

Hye-Won Suh gained success as a national finalist of the New Zealand Chamber Music Contest in 2008, and was winner of the KBB New Zealand Woodwind Competition in 2009 and the Tauranga Performing Arts Competition in 2010. Hye-Won received the Vice Chancellor's Arts Support Fund (the University of Auckland), which enabled her to travel to Australia in 2013 to compete as one of four finalists of the Australian Flute Competition. In 2014 she received the prestigious Anne Bellam Scholarship to assist her study at the University of Auckland, and also won her place to receive Fellowship programme with the New Zealand Symphony Orchestra. Currently, Hye-Won is one of the three finalists of the University of Auckland Concerto Gala Competition 2014 which hold place on 6th May in Auckland Town Hall. She will be performing Ibert Flute Concerto with the University of Auckland Orchestra. She has played principal flute in various orchestras such as the Auckland Youth Orchestra, University of Auckland Orchestra, St. Matthews Orchestra and the NZSO National Youth Orchestra. Hye-Won is also occasionally engaged by Auckland Philharmonia Orchestra for their Young Achiever's recital and APO Open days. She is currently completing her Masters degree in Performance Flute major with Professor Uwe Grodd at the University of Auckland.
